USEFUL INFORMATION

One route card, no timing, take as long as you want – provisional results will be published at 21:30 but if you haven't finished then continue until you get fed up – final results will be published when all the route check sheets have been collected

Some route checks will be simple, some will not (a calculator may be useful as some route checks will involve simple mathematics i.e. addition, subtraction, division, multiplication)

All the route checks will require counting or adding up 'things' and then perhaps performing some simple maths, penalties will be calculated based on the proximity to 'the correct' answer

Always read all the instructions on the route cards very carefully, correct interpretation will be the key to success
